Shane Holland

Another piece from Shane Holland is the Anne Bloom chandelier. Twisted stainless steel elements are interspersed with droplets of Swarovski crystal. Measuring 4.2m in length with a diameter of 1.2m, it incorporates 9 MR11 20w downlighters. A dramatic, sculptural piece.

Bruce Munro's new Snowball chandelier was recently installed at the Queen's Theatre in London's West End. Munro made the chandelier for the contemporary reception area of the building, as well as more traditional wall lights and general lighting for the ornate Edwardian auditorium.
